

I'm here today to talk to you about how you can be both happy and successful in your job as an employment counsellor or employment consultant.

By the end of my presentation, I hope you'll have a better understanding of factors that lead to success and happiness on the job, and that you'll have the tools to be able to apply these factors every day.

Finding happiness is the first step to success on the job.

Happiness alone isn't enough; you also have to have the right skills

Once you have the skills, and you understand what happiness is, you can begin to put the pieces together.

Because happiness is the first step to success on the job ... because happiness alone isn't enough; you have to have skills ... and because getting the skills will enable you to put those pieces together ... I hope I've given you a better understanding of the factors that lead to happiness and success on the job ... and that you'll be able to apply these factors every day.
